Three Yanks Killed

Aerial Assaults On Viet Targets

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — American and Vietnamese warplanes began pounding military targets in North Viet Nam at midnight and continued the aerial hammering through the day.

Returning pilots reported destruction of bridges, highway and railroad vehicles, military emplacements and one large junk.

A U.S. spokesman said the planes encountered light to moderate groundfire but that all planes returned safely without sighting enemy aircraft.

One Navy jet pilot was killed Sunday when his plane failed to pull out of a strafing dive on a truck during raids on North Viet Nam.

Two American soldiers were killed and eight wounded in a six-hour battle with the Viet Cong 30 miles west of Saigon. It was one of several attacks during the weekend in the Mekong River delta.

Navy aircraft from the carriers Coral Sea and Midway began the day's attacks, dropping 12½ tons of bombs. They reported damaging four bridges, four trucks, one large junk and one roadgrader.

U.S. Air Force F105s and F100s took to the air at noon and in a "highly successful" raid dropped a span of the Ha Tinh Bridge on north-south Route 1, 150 miles south of Hanoi, dropped a span of a bridge nearby and then destroyed the Tho Hgoa Bridge, south of Ha Tinh.

At the same time, 16 F105s cruised over highway routes, destroying one truck, three boxcars near Route 1 and three small bridges.

Vietnamese Skyraiders concentrated on bridge targets. In the Mekong delta fighting, the Viet Cong inflicted heavy casualties on the Catholic refugee settlement of Hai Yen. Then, early today, they attacked a nearby outpost and three mortar fire on the town. Three Vietnamese soldiers and seven civilians, including five children, were reported wounded.

Heavier casualties were suffered in a Viet Cong attack on an outpost 45 miles southwest of Saigon early today. Thirteen defenders were killed, 7 wounded and 4 captured.

Urges Naval Men to Extend Duty Tours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze today urged Navy officers and enlisted men to extend their service voluntarily for up to six months to ease a drain in experienced manpower while the fleet is on crisis duty off South Viet Nam.

Nitze called on the men to "make a personal contribution to meeting the present challenge" by voluntarily staying in uniform another three to six months if their terms of service are due to expire.

The appeal comes at a time when the Navy is under dual strains: — Deployment of fleet units for extended periods off South Viet Nam and, the Dominican Republic.

— A drop in enlistments and a continuing loss of trained people for various reasons, including higher pay in industry.

Last month, Nitze asked for volunteers to fill a limited number of jobs ashore in South Viet Nam. More than 14,000 men responded.

Indians Are Big Factors In Trade

SANTA FE, N. M. — Tourist trade is a big factor in New Mexico's economy and the Indian is a big factor in the tourist trade.

Now the state's tourist promoters have to contend with a new survey report that says many outsiders couldn't care less about the Indians.

The report from a New York firm, under contract with the New Mexico Department of Development, said there was considerable feeling among those interviewed that if you've seen an Indian once, that's enough.

The Indian has been a mainstay in the state's national tourist promotion. The Indian will remain so, state tourist division officials say, because the state has a lot of Indians and there are a lot of tourists who want to see them.

Prison Terms For Britons In Spy Cases

LONDON (AP) — Two financially strapped Britons with jobs in top military establishments pleaded guilty today to spying for pay from the Russians and two Arab nations.

Frank C. Bossard, 52, an engineer in the Aviation Ministry, was sentenced in famed Old Bailey Court to 21 years in prison for selling guided missile secrets to the Soviet Union. The prosecution claimed he received a total of $14,000 in nearly four years of spying.

Sgt. Percy Sidney Allen, 33, a British Army clerk in the Defense Ministry, was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment for selling defense documents to the embassies of the United Arab Republic and Iraq for the equivalent of only $182. Allen, arrested March 16, had told police he became "desperate for money" after his wife underwent a cancer operation. They have four children.

He said he had received expressions of concern from one senior commander "that many of our young instructors feel that it is smart to use suggestive or off color stories."

"The use of off color or suggestive stories has been justified to me as essential for establishing audience rapport or for rekindling interest in a presentation," Johnson said.

"I would only comment that any individual who must resort to such practices should review his ability as a public speaker or instructor."

Thus, he concluded, all commanders responsible for instruction or training should "take the necessary action to prohibit the use of offensive language and off-color stories."

Army Orders Language 'Clean Up'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army instructors will have to clean up their language — that's an order from the top.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, recently circulated an order to this effect and told his commanders down to battalion level he was concerned that the continued use of off-color language would harm the Army's image.

Johnson, who has been known to rebuke aides who used even mild cusswords, said "I am fully conscious of the fact that we cannot regulate sin."

However, he added: "I do not believe that we need blink at or condone those instances where the impropriety of the actions of our leaders and instructors can be interpreted clearly as offensive to many of the individuals who are subordinate to them."

The Army chief of staff said he had witnessed during a recent trip a training demonstration in which the soldier-demonstrators used offensive language.

He said he had received expressions of concern from one senior commander "that many of our young instructors feel that it is smart to use suggestive or off color stories."

"The use of off color or suggestive stories has been justified to me as essential for establishing audience rapport or for rekindling interest in a presentation," Johnson said.

"I would only comment that any individual who must resort to such practices should review his ability as a public speaker or instructor."

Thus, he concluded, all commanders responsible for instruction or training should "take the necessary action to prohibit the use of offensive language and off-color stories."

Other weapons not shown previously to the public were a six-rocket antitank system mounted on an armored reconnaissance vehicle, 20 new T62 medium tanks that have been in service since 1963, a medium-range missile mounted on a self-propelled launching platform and a three-stage intercontinental rocket, about 60 to 65 feet long.

Marshal Georgi Zhukov, one of the Soviet Union's top World War II commanders, appeared among the Soviet leaders. It was his first appearance at a Red Square parade since former Premier Nikita Khrushchev ousted him as defense minister in 1957. He made his first public appearance in eight years at a Kremlin rally Saturday.

In New York, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Allied commander in chief in World War II, said the time had come for the Soviet Union to "rehabilitate" Zhukov.

"He was a very good soldier," Eisenhower said, "and he tried his best to make things work in Berlin."

Most of the Atlantic Alliance ambassadors skipped the parade by what some diplomatic sources said was prior agreement. Only the French and Icelandic ambassadors attended.

The reason for the boycott was reported to be an article in Saturday's Pravda by Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky, accusing Western nations of combining to suppress national liberation movements.

Most of the alliance's ambassadors showed up for a Kremlin reception later, but U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and West Germany's Horst Groppe stayed home then, too.

Malinovsky in a Red Square speech charged that the United States and other Western nations "are again threatening mankind with war."

Dominican Rebels Reject Surrender Invite by Junta

Move Against Insurgents Opposed By US Officials

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican rebels have rejected a surrender invitation from the new military-civilian junta with a reply that they have the morale and manpower to withstand attack.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, president of the five-man junta, warned Sunday that his forces were ready "as of now" to move against the rebels. But he said no attack would be launched until every effort has been exhausted to avert bloodshed.

U.S. sources said Washington would counsel against any renewal of fighting between the opposing Dominican factions.

Imbert invited the rebels to lay down their arms and leave the country if they wanted to.

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, the rebel chieftain, issued this reply from his headquarters in the rebel-held southeast portion of Santo Domingo:

"We have defeated their best troops and the best from the national police force. Do they think that with reserves from the interior they will be able to defeat a people whose morale is higher than it ever was?"

The rebels have charged that eight truckloads of Dominican troops were brought in from the countryside and are bivouacked in the zone occupied by U.S. troops.

Although there were no official figures available on the size of forces available to the junta, Imbert said his troops were capable of moving against the rebels.

Before the revolt, which deposed the civilian triumvirate headed by Donald Reid Cabral, the Dominican army was estimated at 25,000 to 30,000 men. Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, military strongman behind the junta, was said to command 1,500 troops and about 30 tanks, in addition to the Dominican air force.

Caamano's high command has estimated there are 20,000 civilians and 3,000 armed forces officers and enlisted men ready to defend the rebel cause.

The rebels are hemmed in by the L-shaped zone occupied by U.S. troops, and have their backs to the Caribbean Sea.

Garbage Collection Fee Nets $36,692.28 Since Enactment

April garbage fee collections turned over to the city treasury by the Water Department amounted to $6,668.57—bringing revenue from the $1-per-month residential charge to a total of $36,692.28 since its enactment by City Council.

Monthly collections since the start: November, $2,657.92; December, $6,964.84; January, $6,367.41; February, $6,312.25; March, $7,721.29; April, $6,668.57.

All figures are the amount received after the Water Department deducted $400 per month for billings and collections.

Big V-E Day Celebration by Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union celebrated the 20th anniversary of V-E day Sunday with a new moon shot, a military display, an appeal for renunciation of nuclear weapons and a new attack on U.S. policy.

The moon shot, Lunik 5, was a 3,254-pound electronic instrument package to gather and send back scientific information. The Soviet news agency Tass said it was launched from an artificial earth satellite put into orbit earlier in the day by a multistage rocket.

The exact time or place of the launching was not announced, but it presumably took place about the hour the Kremlin gave its first public display of the kind of rockets that have carried its manned space ships into orbit.

Tass said Lunik 5 was equipped with "measuring devices" but did not say what kind of information it would send back from its 250,000-mile journey.

Tass said the rocket at 10 p.m. Sunday was 70,000 miles from the earth and was close to its planned course.

There was no indication of any attempt to radio back photographs of the moon's surface. An earlier Lunik had photographed the dark side of the moon. There was no indication whether the rocket would hit the moon or go into orbit around it.

The U.S. Ranger 9, an 809-pound electronic package crammed with television cameras, sent back more than 5,000 pictures of the lunar surface before crashing into a moon crater March 24.

The Soviet display came during a military parade in Red Square. Soviet leaders and thousands of Muscovites saw in an 18-minute weapons show a pair of 110-foot, 3-stage rockets and four other weapons never seen in public before.

Tass said the giant rockets were solid-fueled and that their range was "unlimited." The agency added "they are similar" to the rockets that launched the Vostok and Voshkod manned space ships.

Western observers were skeptical of the claim that the rockets were solid-fueled. They noted that some exterior features

Guardsmen Called In

Cleanup Nebraska Tornado's Swath

PRIMROSE, Neb. (AP) — Spurred by Gov. Frank Morrison's promise of all possible aid, National Guardsmen, volunteers and residents of this Nebraska community dug in today to clear the debris left by a tornado that ripped a 300-yard path along Main Street.

Bulldozers, dump trucks, front end loaders and chain saws operated by guardsmen ordered in by the governor have started the cleanup task.

A group of plumbers came in from Norfolk, Neb., to help restore water service and Forest Service officials were to look over trees to see which could be saved.

The governor visited the community Sunday during an air tour of the tornado-stricken area. He called the storm one of the worst in the history of the state.

The twister, one of at least 20 reported within a 100-mile radius of Norfolk in northeastern Nebraska, left four dead and nine injured in Primrose alone. No other deaths were recorded but as reports filtered in from more than a score of other communities, it appeared the injured list would be at least 25.

In this village of 129 persons 100 miles west of Omaha only 5 of 14 business buildings on Main Street were left standing. About 20 dwellings were demolished and 18 to 20 more were so badly damaged they appeared beyond repair.

The completeness of the devastation was expressed this way by George Adams, 73, son-in-law of one of the men who founded Primrose in 1902: "This town, like other small towns, was dying, but this tornado sealed the coffin. It can't be rebuilt."

William Davis, who estimated

Tyler Plane Wreckage Hunt Goes On

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — The Coast Guard searched along the Atlantic shoreline today for the sunken wreckage of

BULLETIN
— Two bodies tentatively identified as those of Carole Tyler and Robert H. Davis were found today. A plane carrying Miss Tyler and Davis plunged into the Atlantic Sunday.

a plane in which Carole Tyler, who figured in the Bobby Baker investigation, lost her life.

The Coast Guard located what it believed to be the wreckage in mid-morning, but later said it turned out not to be the plane.

Miss Tyler was on a Sunday joyride over the Atlantic when the single-engine plane crashed into the water.

Killed with the former Capitol Hill secretary was the pilot, Robert H. Davis, 43, of Huntington, W. Va.

Both had been staying at Baker's Carousel Motel, which is one of the plusher hostleries in Ocean City and stands about 1,000 yards from the scene of the crash.

Motel officials said Davis, who had spent a week at the Carousel, and Miss Tyler, who arrived last Friday to do some work for Baker, had just met. He invited her to see the beach resort from the air with him, they said.

Davis, a commercial pilot for a West Virginia coal company, had flown the plane from Huntington and kept it at the Ocean City airport. Witnesses said they saw the single-engine biplane swoop along the Atlantic beach, turn suddenly up and out to sea, then plunge into the water.

Sam Borzymowski, 18, an office worker from Baltimore, said the plane was "flying sort of low." He and some friends were among thousands sunning themselves on the beach at the time.

"It did an inside loop and it came almost straight down," said Borzymowski.

he lost a $50,000 investment represented by his home, two cars, three tractors and a feed lot, declared: "I've had it. I'm going to pile the family in a car and head west. A man would be nuts to live in tornado country."

Gilbert McBride, 47, a truck driver whose daughter, Sara, 9, was fatally injured, said the tornado was like a huge snow plow "going at its job of cleaning."

McBride, his wife and seven children were injured. Sara died several hours later in a hospital.

The other three dead were Mrs. Lorrell Loesen, about 62, who operated a creamery; her son, Wayne, 36, who had come from Omaha to spend Mothers Day with her, and Myrtle Barry, who was killed as she attempted to take refuge in a sidewalk culvert.

Aside from Primrose, the principal damage was to farmsteads, power and telephone lines. The tornado alley reached from Hebron on the Kansas border to the South Dakota line on the northeast and was well over 100 miles wide.

City Council Hearing Near On Cable TV

City Council may start hearing final proposals from CATV franchise bidders as early as Thursday night, Mayor L. L. Studer said today.

The mayor was back at his desk in City Hall this morning after spending last week in Chicago where he visited two sons, attended the wedding of a granddaughter and sat in on a railroad storekeepers convention.

Studer noted, however, that he has yet to contact the five bidding firms. He said he was hopeful that if not all the proposals could be heard at that time, possibly some could be taken.

After some prodding by the mayor, City Council voted 7-1 last Monday night to begin negotiations with firms seeking a license to construct and operate a community antenna television system here. Before the council can act, however, they must obtain final proposals from each of the firms regarding franchise payments to the city and installation and service charges for customers.

Firms seeking a CATV franchise include Meredith Broadcasting Company, United Video System, Cable T-V Construction, Inc., Vumore Company and Commonwealth Sedalia CATV, Inc.

260 Money Orders Taken In Break-In

WOOLDRIDGE, Mo. (AP) — The post office in this community was entered over the weekend and 260 money orders, with values up to $100 each, were taken.

A change box was emptied of an undetermined amount of cash and a print-and-punch machine, used for validating money orders, was taken. The burglary was discovered about 8 a. m. The burglars used a pry bar to gain entrance.

There also was an attempted burglary at the Missouri Farmers Association elevator, but the intruders apparently failed to find a floor safe.

Construction Work On Slight Decrease

NEW YORK (AP) — March contracts for future construction in Missouri totaled $77,612,000, a drop of 15 per cent from March 1964, the F. W. Dodge Co. says. The marketing information firm broke the figure down as $26,036,000 nonresidential, down 22 per cent; $39,978,000 residential, down 1 per cent, and $11,598,000 nonbuilding construction, down 32 per cent.

Construction contracts for the first three months of 1965 was $218,798,000 — a 3 per cent decrease from the corresponding 1964 period.

Legislature 'Crooshial' Phase Begins

Bills Not Cleared By Weekend In Serious Trouble

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's Legislature enters the "crooshial" phase this week with less than two months to go.

Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, Senate majority leader, said a bill that does not clear the House where it originated by the end of this week undoubtedly will be in serious trouble.

And the dockets of both houses still are jammed with many major bills still in committee.

Waters warned the Senate it might have to start afternoon or night sessions this week in an effort to clear the decks. Both houses convened early this afternoon to add a few extra hours of working time.

In only one area is the 1965 legislature well ahead of schedule. Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville, appropriations chairman, said hearings would be completed this week on the major money bills.

Then two weeks of executive sessions are planned to get the bills in shape for passage around the end of this month or the first week in June.

That could set the stage for conference committee adjustments and final passage by the middle of June, which would be a record for recent years.

But the prime issue of redistricting the House is still far from settled.

Last week the House spent the better part of two days deciding to approve a constitutional amendment setting the number of House seats at 169—five more than at present and the maximum that could be handled by the electric voting machine.

State Traffic Toll to 21 On Weekend

By The Associated Press
Twenty-one persons lost their lives in Missouri traffic accidents over the Mother's Day weekend. Fourteen of the fatalities occurred on Sunday.

Nicola Santi E'Amico, 44, of St. Louis died when his car collided with a tractor-trailer on Highway 40 near Kingdom City and then plunged over a steep embankment. E'Amico's wife, Betty, 39, was taken to Calloway County Hospital in Fulton where her condition was reported serious.

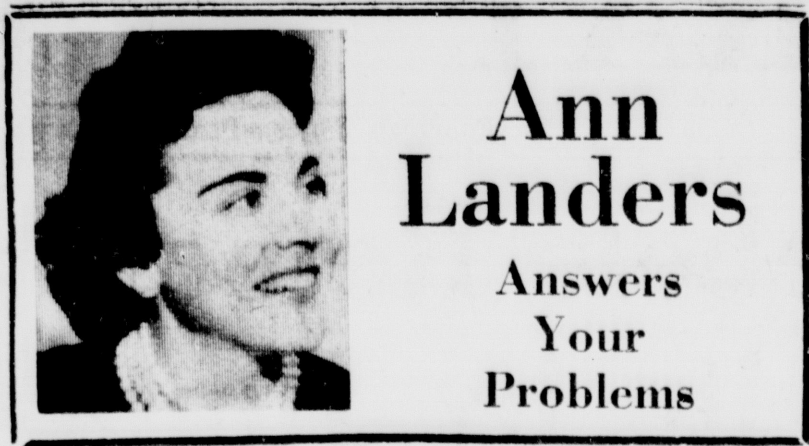

The tractor-trailer, driven by Everett Harvey, 36, of Thornton, Colo., jackknifed and became disconnected, blocking the highway. Harvey was not seriously injured. The highway patrol said the truck was loaded with two turret lathes valued at about $1 million and the damage was estimated at over $20,000.

A car-truck collision on U. S. 36 one mile west of Hannibal Sunday night took the life of John William Finch, 21, of Stoutsville, Mo. The driver of the tractor-trailer, Lavern Blakely, 51, of Moberly, Mo., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Hannibal for observation.

Cecil L. Rector, 46, of Lamar, Mo., was killed Sunday night in the head-on collision of two cars on U. S. 66 four miles east of Miller. He was a passenger in a car driven by Gaylon Jackson, 21, of Joplin. The highway patrol said Jackson came up behind slow moving traffic, applied his brakes and skidded into the path of a car driven by James Johnson, 39, of Joplin. The driver

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is so embarrassing I couldn't hold my head up if anyone should link me with it.

My husband and I are in our 40's. Our children are grown and we have moved to a part of the country where there are beautiful beaches. Our cottage is on the ocean with a lovely sand beach right outside our door.

Since we have moved here my husband and I have enjoyed many moonlight swims. But now he wants to go beyond that. He gets amorous in the water and on the beach and I have a difficult time getting him into the house.

Is this normal? What is the matter with a middle-aged executive who gets such crazy ideas? Has he been seeing too many French and Italian movies or what?

If you say it is all right and to go along with it, I will review my thinking and try to adjust. Thank you very much.—SANDY

Dear Sandy: I am not going to say it is all right and to go along with it because I don't know how much privacy you have around your place. Unless

Irving Berlin Will Be 77 On Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—Irving Berlin will be 77 Tuesday and one of the people least interested in that fact is Irving Berlin.

"It leaves me cold," he said during a brief business trip to the city from the Catskill Mountain home where he spends much of his time.

Berlin will spend his birthday there, with some of his family around to help him celebrate quietly. He said he wasn't particularly looking forward to it.

"I'm looking much more forward to what I'm going to do after my birthday," he said. "The question is, are you going to be a crabby old man, or are you going to write another song?"

Berlin, who has been writing another song for more than half a century, wanted it understood that he doesn't have any intention of just being a crabby old man.

Recently, he said, he finished seven new songs for a movie, to be produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and called "Say It With Music." In the movie, he said, there also will be 25 old songs, including the title song, all by Irving Berlin.

Since he first sold a song for 33 cents in 1907 — "Marie From Sunny Italy" — Berlin has written the words and music for more than 900 songs. A high proportion of them are all-time hits.

Berlin doesn't know much about the new movie — "My job's already finished and it will be a big spectacular."

He is enthusiastic about a Broadway show in which he's involved and which might be produced next season.

"I can't say definitely," he says. "You can't sound off until you're pretty certain about it. Show business is very indefinite these days."

In between such special projects, Berlin enjoys the country — "It's wonderful—you just relax" — and keeping in touch with the "very competent people" who run his very lucrative music publishing business.

Berlin said his health is "fine — all my vital organs function well." He doesn't show his age — "You don't unless you lose your hair or get thin, and I've been able to hold onto my hair."

He says his work doesn't come any harder than it did 40 years ago.

"That doesn't mean," he says, "that you sit down and write a hit — but I didn't do that 40 years ago, either. It all depends on how much talent you have and how you feel."

"If you're a good song writer, you write good songs. Sometimes one will be a hit."

Mother's Day Spending Adds Up To Huge Sum

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
If yours is an average family, it spent about $20 for Mother's Day gifts last weekend.

That adds up, for all America, to a billion dollars.
So Mother's Day has become a huge financial success. It wasn't 100 per cent easy going all the way, even with the backing of the traditional love Americans have for their mothers.

For one thing, the founder of the day, Anna Jarvis, fought to keep it from becoming commercialized.

For another, America's No. 1

son, George Washington, could never be quoted in a testimonial — he didn't even like his mother.

The billion-dollar sales figure comes from the National Committee on the Observance of Mother's Day, which salutes the occasion as:

"This gift-giving holiday which, for emotional response and intensity of impact throughout the nation, is surpassed only by Christmas."

The national committee is a New York-based outfit that stands ready to supply posters, pennants, streamers, badges, carnations and other business builders for Mother's Day.

Weeks ago the committee called on retailers to "plan a consumers concentrated merchandising effort that will better serve the consumers' gift buying needs, and may readily establish an all-time peak in sales volume and profits."

The committee's Mother's Day theme: "Remember mother with a gift she'll remember." That might have been enough to make Anna Jarvis turn over in her grave.

She died in 1948, saddened and made bitter by the popular and commercial success that had overwhelmed her intensely personal Mother's Day crusade.

The first official Mother's Day service was held in the Andrews Methodist church at Grafton, W.Va., on May 10, 1908. It was arranged by Miss Jarvis, who had been born near Grafton but was then living in Philadelphia.

She sent 500 carnations to be presented to each son, daughter and mother attending the service.

Years later, when the price of greenhouse carnations went too high to suit her, Miss Jarvis tried to popularize celluloid badges.

Mother's Day caught on rather quickly, and in 1914 Congress adopted a resolution providing for an official declaration.

Woodrow Wilson, on May 8 that year, was the first president to proclaim National Mother's Day, the second Sunday in May.

Mother's Day 1965, sadly enough, finds a dispute going on over the care of the grave of Mary Washington, mother of George, at Fredericksburg, Va. The dispute, between two memorial associations, has been marked by accusations of bad faith and neglect. It is now in federal court.

In her lifetime, Mary Washington implied that her famous son, the wealthy owner of Mount Vernon and the father of his country, had neglected her.

She asked the Virginia Legislature for a pension as though she was not being cared for by George, and this grieved and angered him. He wrote her in protest:

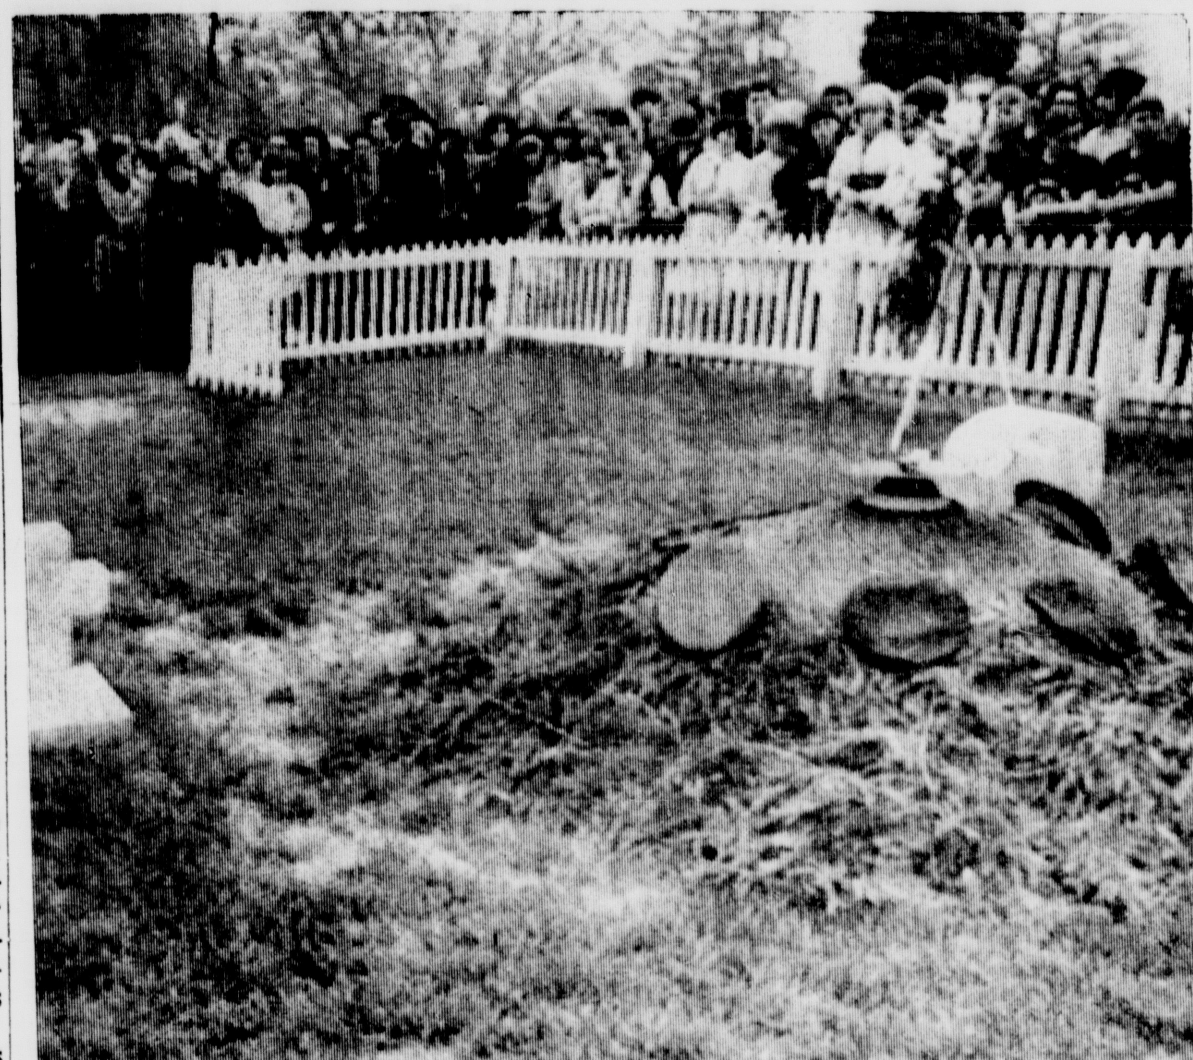

"I am viewed as a delinquent and considered by the world to be an unjust and undutiful son."

What sort of a son was George? What sort of a mother was she?

One of Washington's biographers, Douglas Southall Freeman, wrote:

"He supplied her with what she asked, if he possibly could do so, and he tried always to show patience toward her, but he did not wish to be with her and he seldom gave her his confidence, if ever."

George wrote his mother he did not think it would work out for her to live with him at Mount Vernon. He said that if

Kim Chi Builds Business

Oriental Jeweler Proves His Gems Are All Genuine

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Kim Chi rarely sells a star sapphire to an American service man without first applying a blowtorch to it to prove it isn't glass.

Watching Kim Chi earnestly foot pedal the torch as he turns the hot flame on two pieces of glitter on a slab is one of the best acts in the Far East. The glass melts, the real gem doesn't.

"Glass fini," exclaims Kim Chi triumphantly. "But ruby no fini. Emerald no fini. Star sapphire no fini." The impressed GI dutifully forks over $10 or $20 and another victory is chalked up for Oriental salesmanship.

Every war zone needs a native "can-do" man to get things done. "Can-do" man here is undoubtedly Kim Chi. If he can't do it for you, it can't be done.

Kim Chi is a slender man of 39 who stands out because he always wears a black necktie. He looks about 21 but he has eight children and is buoyantly inarticulate in about the same number of languages.

"I learn English by myself," he said proudly, and no one could doubt it.

she did she would always have to be dressed for company, or appear in dishabille, or remain in her room — none of which would be satisfactory.

Dr. Freeman added: "She had never elicited the warm love a man usually has for his mother. She had seemed to him grasping, unreasonable in her demands and untidy in her person."

But if George Washington were alive today, he'd probably go along with the slogan: "Remember mother with a gift she'll remember."

And Anna Jarvis probably would wear a carnation.

Pat Boone Composing For Minority

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pat Boone is becoming the composing and singing voice of minority peoples.

First he wrote lyrics for "This Land Is Mine" to the theme from the movie "Exodus."

Now he has written words and music for a civil rights spiritual called "Time Marches On."

It tells the story of the Negro — from Africa to Alabama — with a catchy beat.

Boone, a Southerner, said he became interested in the civil rights movement when he had his half-hour television show a few years back.

"On Thanksgiving," he recalls, "I had Ella Fitzgerald as my guest."

"The next day I was bombarded by calls and letters from my relatives in the South, and some from the North, too. All of them chastized me for having a Negro as a guest."

"I was astonished. Here on the day we set aside each year to give our thanks to God, my own relatives were bawling me out."

"It seemed a very un-Christian thing to do."

Pat later mentioned his indignation on a television interview show. One of his listeners was Harry Belafonte.

"Harry said he liked what I said and wanted to come on my TV show. I told him the budget wouldn't support an entertainer of his stature. But Harry said he would do it for nothing just because he liked what I had done."

"I was thrilled and told the producer about it. Soon, the agency people representing the sponsor asked me not to have Belafonte on the show. The reason given was that Harry was married to a white girl and his appearance on my show would hurt sales in some parts of the Deep South."

"Do you mean I have to go back to an entertainer the stature of Harry Belafonte and tell him I can't have him on my show because he is Negro?" I asked. And I was told yes.

"Then I said: 'If that's the case, then you might just as well forget about me for this show.' And I meant it and they knew I meant it."

"Finally, the sponsor relented and said okay. But the payoff is that Belafonte's schedule was so filled up by the time he could do it, my show was off the air."

Pat has recorded his civil rights song.

"Sammy Davis flipped over it when I sang it over the phone to him in New York. Now, he's going to record it."

Commuters Would Be Surprised By Changes

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The old Mount Royal station would surprise the generations of railroad commuters who routinely filed through its cavernous waiting room.

The vaulted waiting room is now a lecture hall; the baggage room is a sculptors' studio, and second- and third-floor offices are painting lofts.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad closed the landmark to passenger traffic in 1961, and it stood desolate for a while. But the Maryland Institute College of Art recently bought the station and is putting its spaciousness to good use.

'Quake Didn't Come As Was Scheduled

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The earthquake that didn't happen caused nearly as much consternation as the one that did.

The Old Farmer's Almanac indicated a two-day earthquake period for the Northern Hemisphere beginning April 29. That's just when the Seattle quake came to pass, causing seven deaths and $15-million damage in the Puget Sound area. Then word got around that the almanac also warned of temblors May 5 and 26 in the Northern Hemisphere.

That takes in a lot of territory besides Seattle, but the jangled nerve set was sure it meant a repeat performance.

Some people left town, others secured cupboard doors with rubber bands so they wouldn't fly open, a secretary wrapped some prize vases in dish towels and laid them carefully on the floor.

Came May 5 and nothing happened.

Accidents

Driver of a car which crashed into a drainage ditch at Osage and Hogan escaped injury, but extensive damage resulted to his 1950 Ford sedan about 8:50 p.m. Sunday.

According to police, John Edward Lyles, 19, 705 West Pettis, was headed north on Osage when the brakes failed and the auto went out of control. In nosing into the ditch, the car knocked loose several large rocks along the culvert embankment and the vehicle dropped down into the ditch more than six feet below the street level.

The front end and undercarriage of the car were damaged. Bacon's Service Station wrecker pulled the car from the ditch and towed it away.

Lyles was alone in the automobile at the time of the accident.

Slight damage resulted to two vehicles in an accident during the rainstorm in front of 326 North Grand Avenue Saturday night. There were no injuries.

Involved were a 1955 Chevrolet sedan, owned and driven by George H. Twilling, 69, 518 North Quincy, and a 1964 GMC truck of the Sedalia Water Co., parked in front of the home of Kenneth G. Opfer.

The accident was reported Sunday morning by Twilling. He told police he was unable to contact the driver of the truck at the time.

The right front of the Chevrolet was damaged and the left rear of the truck was damaged.

Three accidents created damages to vehicles with injuries resulting to only one person, a passenger in a one-vehicle mishap. All three occurred Saturday night with rain and slick pavement partially blamed for two of the accidents.

The first reported was at 7:15 p.m. at the junction of Pettis County Routes B (Green Ridge road) and ZZ, about six miles southwest of Sedalia, when one car stopped and was struck in the rear by a second vehicle.

Involved was a 1960 Chevrolet sedan driven by Howard E. Nichols, 107 East Fourth, and a 1962 Chevrolet sedan, driven by Clyde E. Carr, 850 East 14th. Both were headed westward.

According to Trooper Richard Joos, of the State Highway Patrol, Nichols had pulled up to the junction, planning on turning left onto ZZ and had to stop while two cars parked there moved. While he stopped the Carr auto collided with his car, the left front of Carr's vehicle striking the left rear of the Nichols machine.

Both vehicles were driven away under their own power. Shortly after arriving at the above accident, Trooper Joos was summoned to a one-vehicle accident on Route 52 1.6 miles west of Windsor Junction of Highway 65. This mishap was reported at 7:40 p.m.

Involved was a 1965 Dodge pickup truck driven westward by Dr. Solon E. Haynes, 75, Kansas City. According to Trooper Joos, Dr. Haynes reported he was travelling along on the rain drenched blacktop pavement when the rear of the truck started to "fish-tail" and the vehicle went out of control. The truck skidded to the left overturning on its left side in a ditch along the south side of the pavement.

Dr. and Mrs. Haynes were brought to Bothwell Hospital by a passing motorist, Mrs. Haynes was treated for abrasions and bruises about the body and for lacerations of the left forearm. The truck was towed away by Earl's Garage wrecker from Kingville, Mo. The top, left side and front of the truck were damaged.

Shortly before 9 p.m. a one-car accident resulted in extensive damage to a 1962 Chevrolet sedan and the curbing along the east drive to Brim's Drive. In just east of the junction of 127 on Highway 50. No injuries were reported as a result of the mishap.

The automobile was driven westward by William W. Downing, 47, Joplin, who reported to Trooper Joos that he had passed a vehicle and pulled back into his line of traffic when the car suddenly went into a skid on the wet pavement, going off on the right shoulder. The car crashed into a speed zone sign knocking it down, spun around backward crashing into the concrete along the east edge of the driveway knocking out a large section of the concrete, struck a driveway post and then bounded up on to the driveway.

The rear end of the car was badly damaged with the gasoline tank being knocked loose. Both sides of the car were damaged from striking the two posts.

Park's Cities Service wrecker towed the car to Sedalia.

A Kansas City motorist told the Highway Patrol a camping trailer being pulled by a passing auto sidwiped his stationwagon and caused the vehicle to go out of control on Highway 65 in Benton County Monday morning.

The unknown auto pulling the camp trailer continued on its way and the patrol was still seeking the vehicle at early afternoon.

Andy Barton, 70, was northbound in a 1946 Jeep stationwagon on Highway 65 a half-mile north of Route HH at 8:10 a.m. when the mishap occurred, the patrol said.

Barton's wife, Hazel Belle, 57, sustained abrasions to the right leg, but refused medical attention, the patrol reported.

CD Training Sessions Set During Week

Sgt. Jim Rowe and Cpl. Lohmeyer of the Kansas City Police Academy will conduct the Civil Defense training Tuesday night at the American Legion Building for the Civil Defense Police and Security Course. The subject will be "Traffic Control and Direction." Area Law enforcement officers have been invited to attend.

Dr. Elmer H. Van Dyke will conduct the First Aid Class for the Fire Department Thursday night and again Monday night. His subject will be "Emergency Childbirth."

Area residents interested in receiving Fire Fighting and Control Training are asked to contact the Civil Defense Office, Phone TA 7-0881, or go to the office in City Hall, and give their name, address, and phone number and what nights they can receive training. The local Civil Defense Agency will train interested persons in Fire Control from all areas of the County.

The Bungalow, 114 East Third, was broken into overnight Sunday and ransacked, but no loss was reported.

Police Sgt. Perry Franklin said entrance was gained after boards were pulled loose on a boarded-up rear window. This afforded the burglars access to a supply room and the front of the bar.

The entry occurred after 11 p.m. Sunday night.

Lloyd Harvey, 1000 East Ninth, reported the theft Saturday evening of a windshield wiper while his car was parked in the 600 block of East 14th.

Police on routine patrol noted smoke inside the Wheel Inn Drive-In, Broadway and Limit, at 4:45 a.m. Monday, but there was no fire. The smoke was caused by a motor which had stuck, police said.

Officers notified the management.

Hitler Seeks New Victim

The following, last of four articles on the rise and fall of Hitlerite Germany, draws the picture of the last days of the era.

By JOHN BAUSMAN
BERLIN (AP) — The fall of France in June 1940 left Hitler free to choose another victim.
At first he set his sights on Britain and made elaborate plans for "Operation Sea Lion," the German invasion of England. But an essential condition was air superiority, a goal that Hermann Goering's Luftwaffe was never able to establish over Britain.
The Battle of Britain raged in the skies throughout the second half of 1940. The British pilots, who gradually turned the balance of air losses in their favor, were the first force to check Hitler's advance.
But the Nazi dictator by this time had set his sights on the Soviet Union with whom he had signed a 10-year nonaggression pact only 22 months before. It was to be a land campaign of unprecedented dimensions and fired the imagination of the Fuehrer.
To prepare for the campaign,

Hitler secured his Balkan flank by taking Yugoslavia in April of 1941 and then Greece, which had successfully resisted an Italian invasion six months earlier.
On June 22, 1941, Hitler unleashed 3 1/2 million men in a three-pronged attack on Russia. The Russians put up strong resistance. Hitler's armies bogged down in mud and the harsh winter slowed the blitzkrieg to a crawl.
The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, brought the United States into the war against the Axis. And while the United States kept its fight in the Pacific, it agreed with its British and Russian allies that the defeat of Nazi Germany had priority.
The year of 1942 saw Nazi domination reach its peak. The summer campaign into southern Russia added new territory and in North Africa, Gen. Erwin Rommel, whose Afrika Korps had come to the aid of the Italians in early 1941, threatened the British at El Alamein.
But Rommel was forced into retreat by the British in October and the campaign in southern Russia brought bitter defeat at Stalingrad. The tide was turned.

In November 1942, the Americans and British landed in North Africa and by the following spring had wiped out the Axis forces there. The Nazis launched another summer offensive in Russia in 1943, but the Soviets blocked them.
The Allies stepped up massive bombings of German cities throughout 1943. In July the American, British and Canadian forces invaded Sicily and in September, Italy proper.
The approaching defeat only seemed to spur Hitler and his more warped aides in their fiendish projects to kill off all Jews and enemies of the Reich.
In 1944, when the Western Allies had landed in France and Russia was rolling back the eastern front, the SS was burning 6,000 or more bodies a day at Auschwitz alone.

Nazi fury reached a peak on July 20, 1944, when a small group of officers, hoping to save Germany from destruction by getting rid of Hitler, attempted to assassinate the Fuehrer at his headquarters, the "Wolf's Lair," at Rastenburg in East Prussia. The attempt failed and hundreds of persons, including 21 officers of high rank died in the purge that followed.
The outcome of the war could no longer be denied. But Hitler refused to give up. In December 1944, he launched a final offensive against the Western Allies, calling up boys and old men to strengthen his forces in defense of the Reich. It proved only a temporary halt on the road to final defeat.
On May 1 the official German radio announced that Hitler had died "fighting to the last breath against Bolshevism." It is now generally accepted that he had committed suicide on April 30 in his Berlin bunker with his long-time mistress and bride of one day, Eva Braun, at his side. Their bodies were carried to the garden and burned. The encircling Russian troops were only a block away.
On May 7, Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of operation for the armed forces high command, signed the unconditional surrender of Germany at the instruction of Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz, Hitler's designated successor.
In a little over 12 years the thousand-year Reich had come to an end. The Allies were to write another chapter to its history in the war crimes trials held at Nuernberg the following year.
Joseph Goebbels, the minister of propaganda, escaped Allied hands by committing suicide the day after Hitler did. Heinrich Himmler, head of the SS, managed to commit suicide after his arrest by the British.
But the Allies tried and con-

Hold Solemn Mass For Eileen Yager

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A solemn requiem memorial Mass will be celebrated Wednesday at 10 a.m. for Eileen Yager, who disappeared from her honeymoon yacht in coastal waters.
The former Miss Jeffers, 61, and heiress to a railroad fortune, wed Superior Court Judge Thomas C. Yager, 47, last Monday. The couple were returning to the mainland from Santa Catalina Island on a chartered yacht Thursday when she disappeared.
Yager told authorities he left his wife at the wheel and went below. When he returned to the deck she was gone. Coast Guard officials say they plan a routine investigation this week.

Sentenced For Selling War Secrets

LONDON (AP) — Britain's central criminal court sentenced a 52-year-old engineer in the Aviation Ministry to 21 years in prison today for selling British guided-missile secrets to the Russians.
Frank C. Bossard pleaded guilty in the Old Bailey Court to five charges under the Official Secrets Act. He was liable to a maximum sentence of 70 years, 14 years on each count.

Sir Frederick Elwyn Jones, the attorney general, said Bossard had signed a confession claiming the Russians paid him only $14,000 from 1961 until he was arrested March 15 by special intelligence agents in a London hotel.

At the time of his arrest, Bossard was making $7,000 a year as an official in the Aviation Ministry's guided-weapons division.
Sir Frederick said Bossard, a former attaché at the British Embassy in Bonn, claimed he was approached in a London bar in 1961 by a man representing himself as a Soviet Embassy official. The man suggested he could help Bossard financially in return for intelligence information and other meetings were arranged.

"I was trying to get some translation work from German into English, my income having been considerably reduced since returning from Germany," Bossard told the police. "At that time, I was fairly heavily in the red."

Bossard said his usual method was to select guided-weapons files at his office and then "take them to a hotel room and photograph suitable extracts during my lunch period."

Bossard, an electronics expert, said in a statement: "I can only say I deeply regret my activities against the interests of the state and can only say they were virtually forced upon me by my desperate financial state on returning from Germany."

U.S. Does Job; Critics Argue

With the Dominican crisis sputtering to an end, at least in its shooting phase, second-guessers are arguing over the wisdom of President Johnson's rapid dispatching of American troops to their first landing on the soil of a Latin nation in more than a generation.

One question that occupies some critics is whether or not there ever really was any danger of a Communist take-over of the Dominican Republic. The New York Times, for one, observed that since U.S. troops had intervened, "no one any longer will be able to prove or disprove the thesis that a rebel victory would have brought a Communist government to Santo Domingo."

Presumably, the President should have waited until the Soviet Union and Russian technicians had begun arriving, perhaps being spared from their duties in Cuba.

Others decry the great damage done the Good Neighbor Policy and the concept of inter-American co-operation and equality and nonintervention in internal affairs, so laboriously built up over the years, by this alleged to return to "gunboat diplomacy."

The fact is, however, that the Dominican revolution would have long been over before the Organization of American States could have decided on the need for action, and taken such action, had the United States sat back and waited upon its advice and consent.

The whole Dominican question, of course, should be debated in the councils of the OAS.

But it is thanks to the United States that the problem confronting us and our Latin fellow members today is that of building stable democracy in the Dominican Republic and not what to do about another Communist foothold in the Western Hemisphere.

LBJ's Aid Plan Born 30 Years Ago

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Nobody in Asia knows about it, and few people in the United States but the real origin of President Johnson's Baltimore speech proposing $1,000,000,000 of aid for Indochina dates back to more than thirty years ago, when a tall, gawky young Texan turned up in the office of then Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

His name was Lyndon Johnson. Ickes was too busy to see him, and the young man was referred to the Secretary's friend and adviser, Mike Straus, then chief of the Reclamation Bureau, who, after some conversation, took the young man down to see Abe Fortas and Tex Goldschmidt, who were handling the dams and power projects for Ickes' Public Works Administration.

"This young man wants to build some dams on the Little Colorado River," Straus told Fortas and Goldschmidt. Privately, afterward, he told them that "This is a young fellow you'll hear more about."

That was in the very early days of the New Deal, and what Lyndon wanted was a public works loan to build a series of dams for thirteen counties of Texas, including his own. He got the loan, built the dams, and actually should be known as the father of the Little Colorado River Project.

More important, however, was the fact that he struck up a close friendship with Fortas, today one of his closest White House advisers, also with Goldschmidt who helped Ickes develop the Tennessee Valley Authority and later went up to New York to join the permanent staff of the United Nations, where he has continued building dams all over the world.

It was Tex Goldschmidt, indirectly, who had something to do with the Baltimore speech, though about four years ago Johnson also began pushing the idea that a giant series of dams on the Mekong River might bring peace and prosperity to war-torn North and South Viet Nam.

Chiang Kai-Shek's Brain Child

Originally the idea probably came from Chiang Kai-Shek, who, when he was still trying to ride herd on an unstable China, asked Washington for a reclamation expert who could survey the possibilities of developing the Mekong River.

The Reclamation Bureau, still under Mike Straus, sent him Jack Savage, who made a comprehensive survey showing how this long waterway which drains much of the Indochina rice basin could be turned into a system of lakes and dams just as productive as the Tennessee River.

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS: Who's Sorry Now? — The world's largest desalting and electrical generating plant (built in a fast 64 months by Westinghouse Electric and the Burns & Roe Corp.) will shortly be turned over to control of authorities at our Guantanamo Bay naval base in Cuba.

The $10 million plant wrests 2½ million gallons of fresh water from the sea daily; provides all the electricity needed by the 8,300 persons and installations in the 45 square mile redoubt.

The plant was necessitated by Fidel Castro's cutting off water to the base in February, 1964. Its completion closes the ring of U. S. efforts to make Guantanamo totally independent of Castroland. It's also the latest example of American ingenuity and production line knowhow combining to defeat a dictator.

Total self-sufficient base loss to Castro's economy: $4.5 million a year. But any New Englander could have told Fidel: never say to to a Yankee.

The World Today

No Constitutional Convention Seen

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk has been abroad in the land of a constitutional convention to curb the Supreme Court. But here's a prediction to paste in your hand: no such convention will be held.

This forecast is based on conversations with both sides in a great constitutional debate. It is also based on simple arithmetic.

But first a bit of background:

On June 15 last year, the Supreme Court ruled that both houses of state legislatures must be based on population. This may be the most important court decision of the century — more far-reaching even than the school desegregation decree. For it portends a vast shift in grass roots political power, from farm areas to cities and suburbs.

Rural elements fearful that their interests would be overridden by their dominant political power were shorn away, mounted a counter-attack. They based this on a never-used clause in the Constitution.

This says that on application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the states, Congress "shall call a convention for proposing amendments." Any amendments proposed by the convention would be submitted to the states, and would become fundamental law if three-fourths of them ratified.

Up for action before state legislatures has been an application for a convention. The aim: to get a constitutional amendment saying one house of a state legislature may be based on factors other than population, provided the people agree in a referendum.

The Council of State Governments, which favors an amendment, says that 20 states have voted the application. Several others have asked Congress to act, but have not called for a convention.

But 20 is well short of the required two-thirds majority, which is 34. And the movement seems to have run out of steam, though the Council of State Governments is not acknowledging this, of course. There is no prospect that 34 states will sign on the dotted line.

Even if all 50 states signed, Congress would not have to call a convention. To be sure, the Constitution says "shall" but as one supporter of an amendment remarked ruefully: "Who can mandamus (coerce) Congress?"

For one thing, senators from states with huge city populations could filibuster a convention call to a fare-the-well.

Actually, the inside information is that the drive for a convention has been a pressure tactic, designed not to get a convention, but to build up support for a constitutional amendment through the usual route.

The way all amendments have been adopted thus far is this: Congress, by two-thirds majority of both houses, proposes an amendment. It becomes part of the Constitution if three-fourths of the states approve.

Several amendments are pending in Congress. The chief one, by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., states that one house of a legislature may be based on factors other than population if the people approve. There is wide support for this, and it is expected, probably in modified form, to be voted out of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

And opponents say it is "nip-and-tuck" whether they can prevent it from getting the required two-thirds vote in each house.

But then would come the real crunch. Could such an amendment possibly pass muster in three-fourths of the states?

Under the prodding of federal judges, the task of reapportionment is under way. City folks are getting more and more control, and would be unlikely to surrender their new-found power.

The Mature Parent

A Fancier Actress

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My sister says that my 13-year-old girl is very "affected" and "dramatic." It is true that when her aunt is here, Ellen does get quite "gushy" when she is talking to some friend on the telephone. I have told her to use the bedroom extension when her aunt is here because I can see how this criticism of her "affectedness" upsets her. Is this "gushy" manner normal in girls of her age?

Answer: It certainly is normal around a person like your sister. Your sister doesn't like your child, my friend, Ellen knows, if you do not, that she is under attack by her aunt's ill will. So when that ill will is around, she feels such excessive gratitude for her friends' good will toward her that she expresses it in what you call "gushiness."

Were I you, I should be glad that my daughter had not adopted her aunt's form of "affectation"—that dramatic role of the Plain Speaker which permits spiteful people to express spite under the guise of frankness and honesty.

If we're going in for dramatics, surely the "affectation" of enthusiastic appreciation of other people is a much pleasant one than the affectation of the Plain Speaker who exploits his rôle as the honest person to disparage, hurt and humiliate them.

The rôle of the Plain Speaker is a favorite among hostile relatives of children.

It permits them to express their ill will while presenting a front of moral concern with the child's behavior. Like you, we are blinded to the spite behind the virtuous-seeming concern. This apparent concern is always the power of the spiteful Plain Speaker. It makes him sound so down-to-earth, so I must-be-honest-no-matter-what that we don't realize we are listening to spitefulness.

Is your sister fond of you?

I'm asking because it is not unknown for brothers and sisters to substitute criticism of our children for criticism of us. Obligated as they believe themselves to be to feel unflinching loyalty to us, they maintain this illusion by attacking our children. Thus, when a sister actually feels spiteful toward us, she may express her feeling by attacking Ellen as "affected," "untidy," "rude."

Were I you, I would forget Ellen's "gushiness" toward her friends to consider my sister's adoption of the rôle of Plain Speaker. It's certainly proven to be a pretty dramatic one, commanding so much limelight and attention from you. She's a much fancier actress than Ellen.

Sales Tax Becoming Gross Receipts Tax

The House has passed and sent on to the Senate a measure aimed at closing the loopholes now existing in the state sales tax collection system which if allowed to remain could cost Missouri an estimated $6 million annually.

Under the present system of collecting the sales tax, a bracket affair is employed whereby nothing is charged on sales under 24 cents. From 25 cents to 50 cents the tax is a penny; from 51 to 74 cents it's two cents; and from 75 cents to a dollar, the tax is three cents.

Under a companion bill to the gross receipts tax measure, a new bracketing program would be established providing a penny tax on sales of 15 cents to 54 cents; two cents on sales from 55 cents to 80 cents; and three cents up to a dollar.

The big catch in the new measure providing for a gross receipts tax appears to be that operators of such coin devices as vending machines would have to pay an across the board three per cent on their total sales.

Opponents of the change have contended that it's merely a new way to increase taxes, but Majority Floor Leader Mel Carnahan, who pushed the measure after the death of its sponsor, H. F. Patterson, discounts this argument.

"It is merely recouping a loss in the tax structure on transactions which we thought were covered before the court opinion in the automatic vendors case," Carnahan said.

If the companion bill setting up a new bracketing system fails, which seems improbable, officials indicate the old brackets would remain in effect.

Carnahan said he has little doubt that the measure will pass the Senate handily, especially in view of the need for more state funds.

Vanlandingham Endorses Gubernatorial Succession

Sen. A. B. B. Vanlandingham of Boone County has given his endorsement to a proposal calling for a vote by the people on whether a governor should succeed himself.

The measure already has been approved by the House and the Senate Judiciary Committee and Vanlandingham feels it has a good chance for passage.

In a recent report to his constituents, Vanlandingham quoted remarks by Governor Warren Hearn, a staunch supporter of the proposal:

"A governor runs on a legislative platform and is held by the public responsible for initiating policy. He is also held responsible for expressing the views of the state on new issues arising during the tenure of his office. He should have sufficient time to carry out these policies and programs and the people should have the right to judge the success or failure of a governor."

Many Bills Bugged Down in Committee

The great majority of bills introduced in both houses of the General Assembly this session remain bogged down in committee with few except, perhaps the most important, standing any chance of being brought out.

The second week in May saw some 220 bills in various stages of readiness on the House calendar while more than 100 remained on the Senate agenda.

It appears to be a general feeling around the capitol that few others will be released in time by committee to do any good. However, many appropriation bills remain to be finalized by committee even though time is running short.

War On Poverty Appears To Be Progressing Well

According to officials in the Missouri office of Urban Affairs which is charged with helping fight the War on Poverty in Missouri, the effort is moving ahead rapidly and the state reportedly leads the other states in the number of projects either in force or being contemplated.

Philip V. Maher, a former Clayton attorney who heads the Urban Affairs department, notes that the agency actually is a coordinating body to aid the various counties in initiating local-run programs.

Now on application in Washington is a project dubbed "Operation Headstart" which is aimed at helping pre-school youngsters secure a background placing them on a par with more fortunate kids by the time they reach school age.

Other projects in the works include the training of women at the old VA hospital facility at Excelsior Springs; neighborhood youth programs; conservation projects; and aid to needy college students.

THE WELL CHILD

Shed Tears For Those Who Feel No Pain

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

What would it be like never to cry and never to feel pain? Not as much fun as you might suppose.

Some children are born with a disease known as familial dysautonomia which means a hereditary disturbance of the nervous system involving certain functions.

The victims do cry, but they shed no tears. They have normal intelligence, but poor muscular control. They gag easily and have frequent spells of vomiting. They also perspire profusely and have bouts of fever as high as 110 degrees. Another name for this recently discovered ed abnormality is Riley - Day disease.

Pain normally is a warning sign and since the children with this disease do not feel pain they may suffer burns, fractures and cuts without knowing it. The only advantage is that if they have to have stitches taken they don't need an anesthetic.

It is rare for a doctor to diagnose this disease in a child under one. Since some victims die of complications in their first year, they death is usually blamed on some other cause.

Once the diagnosis is made measures aimed at preventing complications are applied because no drugs have been found helpful. The child must be taught not to take hot food or drink. His friends must be taught not to engage him in rough games. When he has had a fall he must tell his mother so that she can look for an injury. One young victim was heard to say, "I'll bet I'm the most X-rayed kid in town!"

Any parent who must carry the worry of trying to raise a child with this disease may get in touch with the Dysautonomia Association, Inc. (576 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y. 10036) for further information. In union there is strength.

Q — About three months ago my daughter, 8, had a kidney infection. The doctor cleared it up but suggested that we have her kidneys X-rayed. Would it be possible for her to have bad kidneys and still look healthy?

The Roman emperor Nero's real name was Nero Claudius Caesar Augustus Germanicus. There is no proof of his guilt in the burning of Rome in the year 64. In fact, by Nero's orders the open spaces in the Campus Martius were utilized to give shelter to homeless crowds, provisions were brought from the provinces and the price of corn was lowered. He also ordered new houses built partly of stone rather than wood.

Eagle Scout Awards To Set of Triplets

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Triplets 14 years old received Eagle Scout medals Sunday, an event rare in the history of Boy Scouts.

They are Everett, Charles and Keith Taraba, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Taraba. The father is an inspector for Trans World Airlines.

In a note of congratulations, Joseph A. Brunton Jr., chief Scout executive, said: "Occasionally we have had twins and a brother, or three brothers, become Eagles together, but for triplets to receive their Eagles at the same time is very unusual."

V-E Day TV Program A Mistake

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Early Bird, we were assured during the first commercial telecast a week ago, is no toy. Network television, however, seems much more fascinated with bouncing stunts off the satellite in the sky than in cohesive, well-organized programs.

CBS' Saturday night special was called "Victory in Europe, 20 Years After," an awkward enough title, but not anywhere near as awkward as the program itself.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allied forces in that great war, was in a New York studio obviously eager and ready to speak of the great issues. Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, one of Britain's great soldiers, was in Winston Churchill's underground war room in London, ready for a buddy-to-buddy chat with his one-time superior.

But that obviously was not the plan. Most of the program was devoted to views of some of the great war landmarks — St. Lo, Monte Cassino, Coventry, Bergen-Selsen, Berlin and others.

An hour program on the 20th anniversary of V-E Day, a date stirring memories on the part of millions, could well have been devoted to showing how the war-shattered communities and their people have healed the wounds. Welcome too, would have been a program in which minority party would be around a these two great military men while longer, which most of us exchanged reminiscences and already suspected.

First Lady Celebrates Mother's Day Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson received two books of quotations from Lynda Bird and flowers from Luci Baines as the First Lady celebrated Mothers Day at the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

The President, Mrs. Johnson and Lynda Bird, 21, flew up to Camp David by helicopter Saturday night and returned Sunday night. Luci, 17, stayed behind at the White House.

She telephoned her mother at noon to wish her a happy Mothers Day. About the same time, flowers and a personal note arrived from her.

Earlier, Lynda had presented her mother with two small volumes entitled "Springs of Humor" and "Springs of Joy." They contain quotations from noted authors.

opinions. But to try to cram both in disorderly fashion into the same package was a mistake.

NBC's Sunday example of public affairs programming called "The Loyal Opposition" was a shallow exploration of the status of the Republican party. It seemed to have been basted together from bits of recent — and lesser — public speeches by Barry Goldwater, William E. Miller, Richard M. Nixon, Everett M. Dirksen and some Young Republicans. The speeches were the usual exhortations to work for party unity.

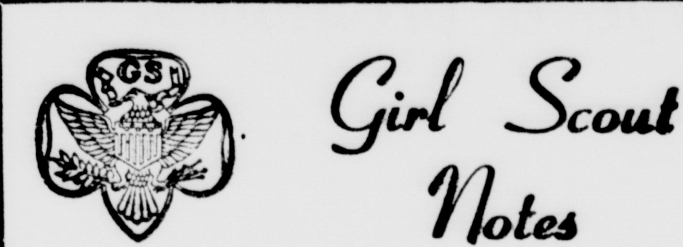

Ray Scherer, the narrator, had a difficult time finding anything to interpret in all this, other than to suggest that the mi-have been a program in which minority party would be around a these two great military men while longer, which most of us exchanged reminiscences and already suspected.

Junior Troop 361 hiked to Covered Bridge Park May 1. Mrs. Jerry Trotter, Mrs. John Gardner and Sally Eckhoff hiked with the troop. Hillbilly Patrol led singing. Mrs. Rudy Rouchka joined the troop at lunch, cooked by Minstrel Patrol over an open fire built by Hillbilly Patrol.

While lunch was served, games were played and there were water fights. After lunch the troop followed a trail made by the Gogetum Patrol. Gogetums furnished a first aid kit and tended a few small wounds.

The troop followed a trail around and under the bridge and back to camp. The troop rested while the Hootenanny Patrol read a poem about nature and Minstrel Patrol gave a Scout's Own, led by Karen Huhman. Hootenanny Patrol cleaned up camp as the others prepared for the walk home.

On Tuesday, the troop held its last regular meeting of the year. It was opened with a flag ceremony led by Hootenanny Patrol.

Plans were made for the sixth grade Explorers Day, May 15, and the troop trip to Richard-Gebauer Air Force Base May 22. At that time, the troop will hold lunch at the mess hall, be taken on a tour of the base and see a movie.

The troop then divided into patrols for dues. Badges were distributed by the leader. The troop had a "flyup" ceremony for Brownies in Troop 331. The ceremony began with Juniors forming a human bridge for new Junior Scouts. Sixth grade Scouts welcomed each new girl and explained something about Girl Scouting to each. The leader pinned on new Girl Scout pins. A candlelight ceremony was held and the Girl Scout Promise recited in unison.

Refreshments were served by Gogetum Patrol. The meeting was closed by both troops with "Taps."

Leaders are Mrs. Jerry Trotter and Mrs. Rudy Rouchka.

Junior Troop 408, Horace Mann School, met May 3 and made plans for nosebag lunches for the next meeting, to be held at Vermont Park. A campout at Camp Sakajawea will be from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. May 15.

Leaders are Mrs. James Labahn, Mrs. Virgil Herrick and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Jr.

Brownie Troop 338, Washington School, met April 23 with Mrs. Ralph Reed. Equipment catalogs were distributed and games played. Each girl received a candy bar as a treat.

April 30 the troop met in the school cafeteria with 21 present. New officers elected were: president, Kathleen Gregory; song leader, Mary Jo Holden; secretary, Dena Buckley; treasurer, Susan Dittmer; and clean-up captain, Karen Petree.

The girls made candy airplanes. Each plane was made, using peppermint sticks for the body, sticks of gum for the wings, lifesavers for the wheels and stapled paper propellers and tail fins.

Leaders are Mrs. Ralph Reed and Mrs. Paul Kellner.

Junior Troop 405, Whittier School, met May 3 with a flag ceremony led by Debra Thomas. After dues and attendance, a poem was read by Tamara Pendell.

The troop will hike to Centennial Park May 12 for a picnic.

CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM R. HULL, JR., of the Sixth Congressional District in Missouri is shown at a breakfast Saturday morning greeting school safety patrol members visiting the nation's capital. Shown above from the left with Congressman Hull are Stan Keesling, Safety Director of the Automobile Club of Missouri; Dennis Matthews, Holy Rosary School, Kansas City, Missouri; Kathleen Ellis, Immanuel Lutheran School, Kansas City, Missouri; Gary Rubin, Border Star School, Kansas City, Missouri; Barbara Taylor, Troost School, Kansas City, Missouri; Lawrence Clark, Columbian School, Independence, Missouri; and Roy Poynter, Washington School, Sedalia, Missouri. The breakfast with the Congressmen was one of the highlights of the patrol members' trip to Washington, D.C., to participate in the 29th annual School Safety Patrol Parade. The patrol members represent part of a 31-member delegation sent to Washington by the Automobile Club to give national recognition to the outstanding record of the patrol. The Auto Club delegation will join about 25,000 other school patrol members tomorrow when the group will march down Washington's Constitution Avenue in the city's largest annual parade.

into the various patrols and learned the routine that is followed in a junior troop. Refreshments of cupcakes and punch were served the visiting Brownies and then the girls enjoyed a play, "The Emperor's New Clothes" which was presented by members of Troop 397.

On April 27 an election of officers was held after the girls had made the Brownie Ring. Debbie Clark was elected president; Nancy Myers, vice-president; Peggy Coffelt, secretary; and Nancy Lindstrom, treasurer. Mrs. Lindstrom told the girls about the Brownie Fly-About Day on May 1 and urged them all to attend. She also told them about Day Camp and asked the second year Brownies to purchase a Girl Scout badge sash and the Junior Handbook before the May 11 meeting which will be "Flyup" for them.

On May 4, the Flyup Ceremony was practiced which will be May 11 at the Wesley Methodist Church. Each third grader recited the Girl Scout Promise which she is required to know before "crossing the bridge" into Girl Scouts. The girls left the Brownie Ring and went to their tables to begin work on gifts for Mother's Day. They decorated hangers by winding them all the way around with different colors of yarn and tying a white bow at the top. The meeting was adjourned with the Brownie "Goodnight Song."

Leaders are Mrs. Bob Lindstrom, Mrs. Ewing Gibson and Mrs. Bob England.

At the troop meeting May 4, a badge demonstration day was held. Flyup ceremony for Brownies was practiced. It was announced that on May 25, a Court of Awards will be held, with mothers invited. Sixth grade Explorer's Day and the trip to St. Louis were discussed. Leaders are Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Dale Miley, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Otis Baer.

FARMING---

Across Pettis County

By LARRY HALE

Director, MU Extension Center

Crop Prospects

Farmers are wondering about the prospects for the major crops produced on Missouri farms this year.

Let's take a brief look at the anticipated Missouri acreage, supply on hand, and expected price this year for corn, soybeans and wheat.

Corn

The market has been favorable for sellers but not quite so good for those buying corn, as cash prices have continued upward since harvest. Thirteen per cent less corn was produced last year. The corn supply on hand therefore is down and is estimated at seven per cent below last year.

Missouri corn growers' intentions are to plant eight per cent less acres than last year. In the U. S., acreage is expected to be down one per cent below 1964. Corn prices for this year are expected to average near the total support price of $1.25 per bushel.

Soybeans

Soybean acreage and production has been climbing for several years. Due to the present close balance between supply and demand, soybean prices are expected to remain strong throughout the year.

Missouri farmers plan to increase soybean acreage by seven per cent this year. In the U. S., an eight per cent increase in acreage is expected.

Soybean prices are expected to stay above the loan price of $2.25 and will likely average about $2.59 per bushel for the year.

Wheat

Missouri farmers seeded more acreage to wheat last fall than was harvested the previous year. The total production of wheat in 1964 was 13 per cent above the year before and three per cent above the 1958-62 average.

The average cash price Missouri producers can expect for wheat this year will be between $1.25 - $1.35.

We've been discussing planting intentions in Missouri and the U. S. Farmers may adjust their planting intentions based upon Outlook and weather conditions. However, once the acreage is planted then weather conditions will have a tremendous influence on the amount that is actually produced. This in turn will effect the total supply available and as a result prices may move up or down a little from what is predicted at present. During 1965 you may want to follow closely the expected production of these major crops. This can guide you in determining the best time to buy or sell.

Feeding Sorghum-Sudans

Dairymen replying to a questionnaire about use of sorghum-sudans last year revealed that in general, yields were reported to be very favorable when compared to sudan.

The yield was particularly favorable when sorghum-sudans were harvested as green chop. A number of dairymen indicated considerable wastage when it was pastured.

How popular are sorghum-sudans as a supplement to the summer forage supply? More than 50 per cent of the dairymen in one-fourth of the counties responding to the questionnaire planted sorghum-sudans in 1964. In another 15 counties, 25 to 49 per cent of the reporting dairymen planted the crop.

MU extension dairymen list the following practices as contributing to better use of sorghum-sudans.

Do not graze before the plants are about 30 inches tall. This will lessen the danger of prussic acid poisoning. Young plants and regrowths tend to be high in prussic acid. Plantings may need to be staggered two weeks apart to avoid growth getting away from you.

As plants mature beyond the boot stage, forage quality decreases and will not support maximum production. When pasturing, fence areas so cows can be rotated in three or more pastures.

If using as green chop or ensilage, cut it before or around the boot stage. Mature sorghum-sudans make low quality forage for dairy cattle. Before ensiling the immature plant, it should be allowed to dry. This can probably be accomplished only after rolling or crimping. Cutting at immature stages will result in lower total yields, but better quality will more than offset reduced tonnage.

Continue feeding concentrates at about the same level as when other good quality roughage is fed.

Fertilizer and Forages

If your hay supplies ran low last winter there are two things you can do in the weeks ahead, which may help the situation in the future. First: Top dressing alfalfa after the first cutting will boost production for the balance of the season, and add to total hay supplies next winter. Secondly: Getting ready in May or June, for alfalfa or grass seedings to be made this fall can improve production in coming years.

Since Alfalfa top dressing time is just ahead, let's think of it first. By top dressing we mean the application of a fertilizer containing phosphate, potash and boron to an established stand of alfalfa.

You will want to get the material on the field just as soon as you can after the first cutting is removed. It isn't necessary, or recommended, that you cultivate the sod after treatment.

Despite his reputation as the "Prince of Humbugs," and the reputed author of the statement "There's a sucker born every minute," P. T. Barnum always gave the public more than it paid for. He introduced Jenny Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," to the U.S., gave New Yorkers their first view of a live hippopotamus, fathered the first three-ring circus, and, among other innovations, developed in East Bridgeport, Conn., a model industrial and workers' community.

Long time results indicate that you can substantially increase yields from the second and third cutting with the top dressing treatment. Total tonnage will vary, depending on the stand and season, but many growers report annual yields of five tons or more from top dressed stands. A second big benefit is longer life of the alfalfa stand.

Exact fertilizer to use will vary some because of past treatment. If you used rock phosphate at seeding, or have a high phosphate soil, a mixture which will provide 40 pounds of phosphate, 120 pounds of K<sub>2</sub>O, and 5 per cent borax, or its equivalent in boron is suggested. If you didn't use rock, you will want to increase phosphate to 120 pounds per acre. Since alfalfa is a legume, you can not normally expect a response from nitrogen. Lime, if needed, can also be top dressed on the stand. Fall seeding of alfalfa or

Be Cautious In Selecting Exterminator

By LLOYD LEWELLEN

Balanced Farming Agent

This is the time of the year some homeowners get excited if ant-like creatures swarm suddenly within the house. The real mistake is to spend a large sum of money for termite control on the spur of the moment.

The house won't fall down tomorrow. Be calm and collected. The first problem is to identify the invaders as termites or ants. Ants have thin waists and termites have a broad waistline. Be sure you have termites before thinking about spending money for chemical control. A call downtown revealed that 14 commercial companies have been issued licenses this year to sell in Sedalia.

Since termites always nest in the ground and can't survive long when they are cut off from this nest, the control is a matter of constructing a barrier between the soil and the building. This barrier can be structural, chemical or both.

Look for termite tubes that may have been built over concrete or brick surfaces and check for termite damaged wood. Termites prefer damp, poorly ventilated places.

If termites are found, plan to get rid of them as soon as practicable. Do not get rushed into a control job until you know for sure how extensive the damage is. Termites do not eat a house down over night. There is plenty of time to check the extent of the damage and figure the most economical method of control. Best chemical treatments and method of application by homeowners may be secured by contacting your County Extension Office. Some publications for more details are available.

How to control giant foxtail in corn all season without carryover problems.

One spray of Atrazine 80W gives you effective control of giant foxtail for the entire season.

Just broadcast Atrazine right after the first flush of foxtail has emerged and follow with a rotary hoeing or shallow cultivation.

Full season control with Atrazine prevents foxtail from germinating late in the season and producing seeds that will make your foxtail problem even worse next year.

Avoiding a carryover problem is easy. Just be sure you apply Atrazine at the rate recommended for your particular soil type and do not exceed 3 3/4 lbs. of Atrazine 80W per acre broadcast, or 1 1/4 lbs. per acre in a 12-14 inch band.

You'll stop giant foxtail and increase your yields.

Ask your local dealer for Atrazine 80W herbicide.

Make Your Alfalfa Weigh In at a FAT 4 TONS

Top Dress Now With MFA ALFALFA TOPPER

How does 4-ton alfalfa sound to you? You can get this kind of hay crop IF you top dress your alfalfa every year. Top dressing not only gives you a bigger crop this year, but assures you of top production from year to year.

IT'S A FACT: Alfalfa has a big appetite for plant food. Unless it is top dressed each year, the soil will run down and so will production. Weak soil lets grass and weeds take over and crowd out the alfalfa stand. Healthy growth and rich soil keep alfalfa in production for 8 to 10 years without reseedling.

MFA Alfalfa Topper puts back into the soil all the plant food elements that a big crop "mines" out of the ground. In addition to supplying these very basic elements, Alfalfa Topper contains Sul-Po-Mag ... 100% water soluble magnesium ... the only certain way to prevent chlorophyll anemia and keep plants growing green and strong. Sulfur builds strong roots, increases winter hardiness and makes for fast recovery and extra cuttings.

Disorder Normal

Dominican Situation May See Relief In Heavy Rain

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Teeming rain drenched Santo Domingo today, and people even grasped at the fact of the rain in forlorn hope for a good omen.

The downpour broke one of the worst droughts in recent memory. There are those who say the lack of rain had something to do with exploding the time bomb of rebellion here.

Outside Santo Domingo, the rest of this little Caribbean country is quiet. There have been only occasional disorders elsewhere. The Dominican Republic's second city, Santiago, is reported back almost to its normal workaday pace.

The capital, the nation's political heart, is an armed camp divided into sectors controlled by rebels who call themselves constitutionalists and American soldiers and Marines who are here on what is advertised as a mission to keep the peace.

Somewhere in between are the forces controlled by a new junta whose members are trying to look attractive to the constitutionalist rebels while threatening to launch an all-out attack against them.

The United States, one hears, would deplore such an attack by the new junta. Yet it was the United States whose massive military intervention here prevented the rebels from taking over the country and eliminating those represented in the new junta.

The United States brought troops here with the announced purpose of protecting American civilians. The U.S. government also suspects that Communists and Castroites have moved into commanding positions among the constitutionalist rebels and has been exhibiting determination to "prevent another Cuba."

At this moment, the United States represents itself in the Dominican Republic as an agent of the Organization of American States with the mission to keep the peace and thus unable to take sides. But the exchange of casualties is with the rebel side, and the sniper's bullets — often so professionally directed as to suggest careful training in the Havana style — comes from the rebel side.

The rain beats down on Marines in an open field, shouting "Gung ho" in high spirits as they fill sandbags for emplacements for a battery of six 105mm howitzers, a small part of the enormous amount of military hardware brought in to keep the peace. The downpour has turned what was dry red dust around them into a sea of reddish mud. The Marines are undismayed by the discomfort. In the streets of Santo Domingo a water buffalo, peering into the midnight murk.

He had climbed on the animal's flat back to watch a file of patrolling Vietnamese rangers outlined against the light of the government military outpost not far away.

Suddenly he saw a ranger draw a bead on him. He turned to leap and run. A rifle shot split the midnight stillness. The boy spun crazily and pitched to the ground, a bullet through his head.

"Got the little —!" muttered the ranger. The patrol crept ahead, a bit more hopeful that the Viet Cong would not be alerted in time to stage an ambush.

The boy was a Viet Cong lookout. At 12, he already was considered a grownup in his village, one of thousands of teenage and subteen youngsters serving the Viet Cong in innumerable ways. Young lives are freely expendable by the Viet Cong.

The lad who spied on the ranger patrol had been responsible for the deaths of many rangers. Each time they had left their outpost to patrol an area not far from Saigon, they had been ambushed. Now the young lookout was dead. Another soon would take his place.

The youngsters are educated from babyhood in guerrilla life, and can be more cruel and dangerous even than the seasoned guerrillas. Hard and disciplined, they may be unaware that often their lives are sacrificed deliberately.

They have been trained to live in holes in the ground. They have learned to regard gun-carrying guerrillas as great heroes and aspire for the moment to be like them.

No government ever has been popular in the Dominican Republic and no government is likely to be. The history of this island is too mixed up with greed, corruption and poverty for that.

When the latest coup or uprising or revolution — or whatever it was — broke on April 24, there were shouts of jubilation in the streets. That has happened before. It happened when the Trujillo dictatorship fell. It happened when Juan Bosch was elected president in the first free elections since 1924. But governments come and governments are overthrown.

There is little difference to the man who must scratch out a precarious living no matter who sits in the National Palace.

In the heart of the city, where the slums are and where the shooting is heaviest, the faces in the streets are blank. They watch in a sort of stunned resignation at the display of American might which has suddenly descended on the island. They are neither friendly nor unfriendly faces. They just seem tired.

Yet where the concentration of U.S. forces is heaviest, there is almost a carnival atmosphere. The ever-present entrepreneur is doing a brisk roadside business with fruits and soft drinks. The Americans are cheered.

Nobody asks why this should be. It is just the Dominican Republic.

ment outpost. For the first time, he is given grenades, which makes him very proud.

Each boy — or girl — is drilled in the specific duties ahead. There must be no straying.

The attack may be so organized that young boys creep forward first using their grenades in an assault on barbed wire barricades, or to hurl grenades at enemy machineguns. They may have been sent coldbloodedly to their deaths. If the attack does not go well, the Viet Cong regulars may retreat to save their valuable, seasoned manpower. The bodies of the kids will be dragged away — sometimes by other kids.

For a long time this was the pattern in the Mekong Delta. The story has been told time and again, in photographs taken from dead or captured Viet Cong guerrillas, of the day when a boy receives his first weapon, usually an obsolete rifle.

The beaming boy is photographed with his family in front of his village hut, perhaps with a proud father on one side and an indulgent Viet Cong officer looking on. It is almost like a religious confirmation. He has become a guerrilla irregular, who will drop his weapons by day to tend crops or help out in village emergencies — part boy-farmer, part boy-laborer, part boy-guerrilla.

It takes time to achieve the honor of his own weapon. The boy begins his war career at 10 or even younger, already indoctrinated in Viet Cong schools. He may be sent first to watch for American helicopters or for patrolling Vietnamese rangers. He may survive and have a when they, too, will carry weapons.

They have been drilled in close community living, in obedience without question. They are educated in cruelty and hate. Some have seen terrible punishments meted out by the Viet Cong to villagers who informed to the enemy or otherwise transgressed. Some have seen the punishment of a public beheading, performed slowly with a knife.

A tough youngster can advance swiftly. By 14 or 15, he might carry a gun with a village unit. By 16 or 17 he might be a member of a district unit with hopes of transfer to a province or zone command.

He — or she — performs many tasks: that of informer to turn in those who resist paying Viet Cong taxes or perform acts hostile to the Viet Cong; that of coolie to carry guerrilla supplies; that of laborer with the regulars, digging trenches.

Often he is enlisted to carry the wounded and dead from the battle scene. He is the reason, so often, that when government forces arrive on the scene of battle there is no trace of Viet Cong dead or wounded — or even of expended cartridge shells. The youngsters swiftly sweep it all up.

Often, he is the first to die.

He probably has no inkling of what he is in for. He is a sort of sacrificial lamb. He hears the exciting words, "We are going to attack." Perhaps he has never seen an attack on a govern-

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Mother's Day "peace walk" was held in downtown St. Louis Sunday and was picketed by a group supporting President Johnson's policies in Vietnam.

The St. Louis Citizens Committee for Peace in Vietnam sponsored the walk by about 300 parents and their children, college students and clergymen.

They heard speakers advocate an immediate halt to U.S. bombings in Vietnam, cease fire in South Vietnam and a negotiated settlement.

About 50 persons picketed and heckled the marchers and there was some shouting between the two groups, but all joined in singing the National Anthem, ending the demonstration.

If you haven't applied extra nitrogen yet, side-dressing is your last chance!

Here's why you can't afford to pass it up...

"NO EXTRA NITROGEN, no extra bushels"—if your corn could talk, this is what it would tell you. Corn has the biggest nitrogen appetite of almost any crop you could grow. Corn plants are born hungry, and they get hungrier as they get bigger. By the time they're waist-high, they will be gobbling up four pounds of nitrogen from every acre every day—if the nitrogen is there for them.

Where is all this grow-power going to come from? Not from starter fertilizer or modest pre-plant applications alone. Bringing in those top-profit extra bushels calls for plenty of extra nitrogen. If you haven't applied this special boost yet, you want to side-dress just as soon as you can get to it. It's your last chance to say "No" to break-even corn.

The ideal side-dressing nitrogen

Many top-notch corn growers are applying extra nitrogen twice—ahead of planting and side-dress. Even if you have a fair amount of nitrogen on, more nitrogen could still add to your profit. And that's where Spencer Ammonia comes into the picture.

No side-dressing material is more powerful than Spencer Ammonia (82% nitrogen). Or any faster: Applied by soil injection, Spencer

Ammonia goes directly to the root zone where your young corn plants can get to it right away. Spencer Ammonia will pick up fast where your row or pre-plant fertilizer leaves off—and keep your corn plants well-fed clear through the growing season. It will also help your plants take better advantage of the plentiful spring moisture.

How does all this pay off? Side-dressing now with Spencer Ammonia can easily be the most profitable part of your entire crop investment. With just an average growing season, you can expect a profit return of $2 to $3 for each $1 you invest.

Your corn is ready and willing

It's taken a lot of work and money to get your corn this far. Don't stop short of your real profit payoff. Complete your fertilizer program by side-dressing right away with Spencer Ammonia—the 82% nitrogen source.

NOTE: If you've got your hands full right now, call your nearby Spencer Ammonia distributor and arrange for custom application. Application rates are accurately measured to fit your soil fertility, corn stand and yield goal. Why settle for less?

Why turn your corn loose half fed? Take the advice of this grower and finish your fertilizer program with a nitrogen side-dressing. It paid off to the tune of 124 bushels per acre for him. Read at left what it can do for you.

Do it yourself or have your Spencer Ammonia distributor side-dress for you. Either way, Spencer Ammonia can give you back $2 to $3 worth of bonus yield for each $1 you invest. Why miss out?

OSU Turns In New World Record In 2-Mile Relay

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Big Eight turned up for the 37th track championships this weekend in Lincoln with a world record by Oklahoma State in the two-mile relay, a swift 440-220 double by Oklahoma's Bill Calhoun and several other good marks.

The OSU quartet ran 7:18.3 at the West Coast Relays in Fresno, Calif., Saturday night, smashing the world mark of 7:19. The four Cowboy runners averaged just under 1:49.6 per man, as Jim Metcalf ran 1:50.6, John Perry 1:47.5, Tom Ruten 1:49.2 and Dave Perry 1:51.

The application for the world mark will list it as 7:18.2-5 because international rules require the nearest one-fifth of a second at the distance.

Two other season bests were set by the league, as Bill Calhoun ran a 21-flat 220, just one-tenth off the meet record around one turn, and Gene Crews of Missouri put the shot 57-8 1/4. Calhoun also won the 440 in 47.7.

The conference is counting Calhoun's 220 as the season best because Missouri's Charles Allen had a slight tailwind in his 21-flat a week earlier.

Overall, the weekend marks were slight off the previous week because most coaches don't want to risk injuries ahead of the big meet by going all out.

Even so, there were some fine marks. Lowell Paul of Kansas ran 1:50.8, just one-tenth off the league season best. It was his career best. Charlie Greene of Nebraska and Jim Jackson of Oklahoma both ran 9.5 in the 100. K-State's Bill Floerke, the national leader at 266-5 1/2 in the Kansas Relays, threw the javelin 237-9 1/2. KU's Purma had a career best, 238-6.

Oklahoma's Jim Farrell vaulted 15-4 and Phil Manuel of Kansas went 15 feet, a career best. Nebraska's defending Big Eight outdoor 440 champion, Dave Crook, ran 47.5. Missouri miler Robin Lingle, with a career best of 4:01.7, was an easy winner in 4:12.2.

Kansas swept both the mile and two-mile to win 76-67 at Oklahoma. Missouri won 82-63 at Nebraska. Iowa State won 102-43 at South Dakota but lost hurdler John Adams with an ankle injury. K-State edged Air Force 74-71 at Manhattan by winning the mile relay in the rain. Colorado will try again today to get in its meet with Denver and Colorado State.

Eleven of the 17 meet records will be in jeopardy Friday and Saturday at Lincoln. Two national collegiate records could go. Jim Miller of Colorado already holds the collegiate and American mark of 36.1 in the 330 hurdles. Floerke could get the collegiate javelin mark of 273-10 set by Bill Alley of Kansas five years ago.

Greene is pointing for 9.3 and hinting broadly that he may go after the 220, which he seldom runs although he did 20.5 in high school.

It will be the last shot at a team crown for Bill Easton, Kansas coach whose teams have dominated the league for 18 years. Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Nebraska all have a good shot at the championship.

Reds Oust Pirates

Robinson Pushes In Two Winning Runs

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It figured. Soon as Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler needed a pinch hitter he called on Frank Robinson, the guy with the Most Valuable Thumb in the National League.

Batting with a badly injured left thumb that has turned him into a part-time player, Robinson rapped a pinch single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning Sunday, driving in two runs and giving the Reds a 5-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Cincinnati slugger batted — for the first time since Friday night — despite a badly swollen left hand stemming from the thumb injury he suffered a week ago against the New York Mets in the first game of a doubleheader.

Robinson, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1961, jammed the thumb diving back to first base before being picked off by Jack Fisher in the fourth inning. He left the game for a pinch-hitter in the fifth.

Scheduled to start Saturday, he was pulled from the line-up at the last minute. His insertion into the line-up Sunday came at the last minute, too — much to the anguish of the Pirates.

Elsewhere in the NL, Chicago whipped Houston 7-1 after losing 11-5. Milwaukee dropped New York 8-2 before bowing 5-4. Philadelphia trimmed St. Louis 4-2 and San Francisco defeated Los Angeles 6-3.

Robinson's winning hit climaxed the three-run rally that wiped out a 3-2 Pittsburgh lead. Pinch-hitter John Edwards singled across the tying run before Al McBean walked Leo Cardenas, filling the bases. Bob Veale replaced McBean, and Robinson drove in Marty Keough and Edwards.

Ernie Banks homered twice and increased his major league-leading runs-batted-in total to 32 in Chicago's second game triumph. Glenn Beckert and Don Landrum also homered for the Cubs.

In the opener, Houston collected 18 hits for the second straight game with Rusty Staub driving in five runs on a homer and a double. John Bateman and Jim Wynn added homers for the Astros.

Joe Torre slammed three Milwaukee homers, but the Braves could gain only a split with New York. The Mets deadlocked the second game with three runs in the seventh, the tying tally coming home on a bases-loaded walk to Ed Kranepool. Kranepool then won the game in the ninth with a bases-loaded single.

Torre, who socked two of his homers in the nightcap, got the Braves started in the opener with a two-run homer in the first inning. Mack Jones, who also homered in the second game, added a two-run homer and Denis Menke a three-run blast in support of Tony Cloninger's six-hitter.

Home runs by Dick Stuart and Johnny Callison powered the Phillies past the Cardinals, won him the league scoring crown three years ago. He was a defensive star last year, because he was most needed there.

Roland likely will be a defensive standout again this fall, if Charlie Brown's injured knee mends as Devine expects. Missouri finishes spring ball with its intra-squad game Friday.

Jack Mitchell, Kansas coach, was pleased with the offense. Stokes scored on 63 and 70-yard plays in the first 10 minutes. Mike Johnson, back in action

THE CLOSER YOU SHAVE—Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, left, and Gene Freese of the Pittsburgh Pirates have something in common. They're both finding it difficult to get away from Los Angeles Dodgers pitchers. Don Drysdale was working with Mays up and Johnny Podres with Freese.

Topsy-Turvy Weekend At MU Practice

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was rather a topsy-turvy weekend in Big Eight spring football.

For instance, kicker Charles Durkee tied himself 3-3 at Oklahoma State, Coach Dan Devine at Missouri let Johnny Roland carry the ball, and the Colorado Varsity finally beat the Alumni, 13-12.

At Kansas, a back turned split end, Sims Stokes, scored two long touchdowns, and an unknown named Gipp DuPree fired three T.D. passes.

At Nebraska, a freshman split end named Dennis Richnasky is stealing the show from two All-Big Eight ends, although he's only 5-foot-10 and playing with a bad thumb.

A pair of hard-running freshman backs, Willie Robinson and Leslie Webster, stole the show in Iowa State's spring game, won 27-0 by the Reds over the Whites. The Reds included the No. 1 offensive unit and No. 2 defensive unit, which set up all four touchdowns.

The 200-pound Webster, hoping to replace the great Tom Vaughn, had 115 yards in 26 trips. Robinson scored three times, gained 106 in 22 carries and showed that he'll give full-back Tony Baker plenty of competition when Baker returns next fall from six months Army duty.

In the OSU spring game, played in rain and mud, Durkee kicked a 26-yarder for Orange team in the second period, then tied it with a 41-yarder just 4:23 from the final gun. Walt Garrison, defending Big Eight rushing champ, led the runners with 137 yards.

Missouri's Roland took several offensive turns and then showed the form which won him the league scoring crown three years ago. He was a defensive star last year, because he was most needed there.

Roland likely will be a defensive standout again this fall, if Charlie Brown's injured knee mends as Devine expects. Missouri finishes spring ball with its intra-squad game Friday.

Jack Mitchell, Kansas coach, was pleased with the offense. Stokes scored on 63 and 70-yard plays in the first 10 minutes. Mike Johnson, back in action

Sweep Doubleheader

Orioles Need Help To Trounce Tigers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It figured. Soon as Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer needed a pinch hitter he called on Brooks Robinson, the guy with the Most Valuable Thumb in the American League.

Batting with a broken right thumb that is expected to keep him out of the starting line-up for about 10 days, Robinson slapped a pinch-hit single in the 12th inning and scored the winning run as the Orioles completed a doubleheader sweep by edging Detroit 5-4 Sunday.

The Orioles had won the opener 7-1 with Robinson playing four innings before he finally submitted his swollen and discolored right thumb to X rays that revealed a fracture between the knuckles of the finger.

The Most Valuable Player in the AL last season when he hit .317 with 28 homers and 118 runs batted in, Robinson suffered the break when he was hit on the hand by a Hank Aguirre pitch in Saturday's game against the Tigers.

"The doctor told me it would take 10 days for the swelling to go down," said Robinson, "and that it would be up to me to play when I felt I could."

Robinson felt he could pinch hit in the 12th and stroked a one-out single off Fred Gladding. He moved to second when Gladding hit Paul Blair with a pitch and scored on Norm Siebert's single.

Another part - timer, Fred Whitfield, lashed seven hits in nine at-bats and drove in three runs in each game as Cleveland defeated Boston twice, 9-4 and 10-7. Elsewhere, Washington edged the New York Yankees 5-4. Minnesota belted the Chicago White Sox 6-1 and Los Angeles Angels downed Kansas City 5-3.

The Orioles won the opener behind the six-hit pitching of Milt Pappas, who was making only his second start since injuring his knee April 19. Boog Powell drove in three runs with a homer and two sacrifice flies.

The Tigers pulled out to a 4-2 lead in the nightcap on two-run homers by Al Kaline and Willie Horton before the Orioles tied it in the seventh when Jim Northrup misjudged Luis Aparicio's liner that went for a triple.

The Indians collected 32 hits in the twinnish against the Red Sox with Whitfield, who is platooned at first base, collecting a single, double and triple in the opener and a double and two singles in the nightcap while raising his average 121 points to .429.

Whitfield recovered considerable support in the batting department in the second game with Rocky Colavito and winning pitcher Sonny Siebert slamming homers. Tony Conigliaro hit two for Boston, his sixth and seventh, while Lee Thomas contributed one.

The Senators snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh on Don Zimmer's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded but scored the eventual

Knudson Holds One Stroke Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — George Knudson, the Canadian who may become the fifth man to lead the $100,000 Colonial National Golf Tournament all the way, went out today in the rain-plagued tournament boasting a one-stroke bulge over Bruce Crampton and Tony Lema.

The final round was postponed Sunday because of a one-half inch rain accompanied by lightning.

Knudson was neither helped nor hurt by the postponement. Entering the final round with a one-under-par 209 for four holes, George, up with the top echelon in most tournaments, parred the first two holes of the final round before the postponement.

Crampton, who had 210, did the same and stayed a stroke back. But Lema took a bogey on the second hole.

Only 17 players had finished the final round when it was postponed after two stops.

Among the finishers were Tommy Aaron and Chris Blocker, who had one-over-par 71 over the 7,100-yard Colonial Country Club course. But Aaron had 228 for 54 holes and Blocker 226. So they weren't regretful that there had been a postponement.

Juan Rodriguez and Doug Sanders didn't like it though. They both had picked up a stroke and gone into a tie for third with Lema.

Knudson led the first round with a 68, was tied for the lead at the halfway mark with 139 and shot back ahead Saturday with a 70.

Sam Snead, Chandler Harper, Clayton Heafner and Julius Boros are the four players to win the tournament by staying on top through the four rounds.

MU Heading For Series With Iowa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri's defending Big Eight champs and 1964 NCAA runners-up, supposedly demolished by graduation, headed for a title series with Iowa State May 21-22 at Ames because they find new ways to win and new help every week.

Hi Simmons, veteran coach, may get his fourth straight league crown and 11th in 26 seasons. But he says it won't be due to coaching.

"I'm just sitting back and enjoying it," Simmons said. "I've been around long enough to learn that when you have a winning spirit like this club has, it's better to do as little coaching as possible."

Missouri completed a series sweep Saturday at Columbia by taking two from Kansas, 8-6 after spotting Kansas a 6-0 lead, and 1-0 in a rare double one-hitter, broken up by Bob Robben's sixth inning two-out single.

Iowa State, coached by another crafty veteran, Cap Timm, is making a surprising run for the title with an underrated club. The Cyclones kept pace with a 3-1 victory at Ames, competing a sweep over Oklahoma.

Missouri has an 11-3 record, Iowa State 10-4, Nebraska 8-5, Oklahoma State 8-7, Kansas 7-8, Colorado 5-8, Oklahoma 5-10 and Kansas State 2-11. This Friday and Saturday, Iowa State is at Oklahoma State, Kansas at Kansas State, Colorado at Missouri and Oklahoma at Nebraska. Iowa State obviously has the toughest job of the two contenders.

Colorado shutout Nebraska 2-0 behind Richard Frank's four hit in the other game Saturday. K-State-Colorado at Boulder was rained out.

Sandy Buda of Kansas and Orville Hollrah of Missouri pitched the double one-hitter. Ray Thorpe raced home with the winning run in each game.

City Hall Damaged

AURORA, Mo. (AP) — Aurora's three-story city hall was damaged extensively by fire early Sunday shortly after the close of a dance for teen-agers.

Fire Chief Gene Lewis said the blaze apparently started in a cloakroom on the third floor. The cause was not known.

Smelt Caught Best By Dipping In Dark

DULUTH, Min. — Dipping in the dark is still the best way to catch smelt.

Smelt are a silvery fish, larger than a sardine, smaller than a herring. They come to Lake Superior shores near Duluth in hordes each spring.

So do smelt fishermen. They came this spring equipped with catch containers ranging from ordinary waterpails to steel stock watering tanks mounted on trucks. Game wardens have an easy time. There is no bag limit.

While seining is permitted, the dip net on a pole is the smelter's standby in working the rocky shores and swift-flowing streams.

Dipping starts about 10 p.m. when smelt head for shore or upstream to spawn. Sometimes the score is big on each try in the frigid water. About 4 a.m., when the run stops, its back to the campfire for a fish fry and sleep.

Business Analysis

Small Change Big Business In Vending Machine Field

NEW YORK (AP) — Small change makes big business for the vending machine industry, which right now finds itself smack in the middle of a boiling controversy over silver coinage.

If it weren't for the coin-operated vending machines, the U.S. Treasury probably would have little difficulty in eliminating all or nearly all the silver from dimes, quarters and half-dollars. Rapidly shrinking silver stockpiles will soon force such a move.

LBJ Orders Statements By Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has ordered 200 top government officials — including Cabinet members — to file statements of their financial interests with the Civil Service Commission.

An executive order issued Sunday also gave the Civil Service Commission authority to require similar statements from 2,000 lesser officials. These would be filed with the heads of their agencies.

The seven-page executive order which superseded several existing directives, set strict standards for 2.5 million civil servants limiting acceptance of gifts, entertainment and favors by executive branch personnel.

All statements will be kept confidential and not made public. The Civil Service Commissioner or the head of a department or agency, however, will make available to the President any information they feel he should have.

The order was the first directing the filing of statements by presidential appointees. Some congressional committees have asked for such information in connection with confirmation of nominees.

The order does not apply to Johnson but one official said he expects the President to file a statement because "I am confident it is his intention to do everything that is required of any other employee."

The financial reporting requirements will apply to key members of Johnson's staff. They will decide whether their subordinates should file statements.

In issuing the directive, Johnson praised "the unusually high standard of honesty, integrity and impartiality" of government employees but said:

"There are some whose duties on occasion place them in difficult or awkward situations, and thus the order today lays down general guidelines and standards of conduct as clearly as possible."

The order provides that "no employee shall solicit or accept directly or indirectly, any gift, gratuity, favor, entertainment, loan, or any other thing of monetary value, from any persons, any corporation or group which—

"(1) has, or is seeking to obtain, contractual or other business or financial relationships with an agency;

"(2) conducts operations or activities which are regulated by his agency;

"(3) has interests which may be substantially affected by the performance or non-performance of an official duty."

Always Turmoil

Real Peace Never Known
In the Dominican RepublicAP Spotlight
By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

U.S. forces may be able to maintain temporary quiet in the Dominican Republic, but real peace is something the island has never known.

"Basta yaw!" was the cry a short time back among the relatively small, badgered middle-class elements. It meant something equivalent to "Let's cut it out!" it reflected weariness with unending turmoil.

Almost from the time Christopher Columbus first set foot on it in 1492, colonial powers squabbled over the island of Hispaniola. The Dominicans became independent 121 years ago, but it is exactly 100 years since they finally ended Spanish domination.

Political peace has been a rarity there.

In the 19th Century, the country had 92 different governments. Things were going that way in the 20th Century, too, until U.S. Marines arrived in 1916 to suppress an insurrection. They occupied the country eight years.

The Dominican Republic is an attractive land with attractive people. About the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined, it occupies the eastern two-thirds of Hispaniola. Haiti occupies the rest. Its 3.2 million people are 10 per cent white, 20 per cent Negro and 70 per cent mixed blood. Legend says its capital city was founded 469 years ago by Bartolomeo, brother of Christopher Columbus.

The climate is pleasant, but, like the politics, subject to sudden hurricanes. It was during a violent hurricane that the era of dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina began, and hurricanes were the one thing he feared most ever after. A soothsayer told him he would go out as he came in, during a hurricane. He didn't.

The U.S. occupation opened the way for the Trujillo dictatorship. He was an army cadet when it began and a brigadier general when it ended, in charge of organizing the army. In 1930, at age 38, Trujillo was the nation's most powerful man. The Trujillo era was destined to last 31 years.

Trujillo did well, by some standards. He liquidated the country's heavy debts, put the peso on a par with the dollar, made strides with public works, road building, health, sanitation and education programs. But widespread illiteracy, poverty and unemployment, standard for much of Latin America, persisted.

On May 31, 1961, assassins' guns ended the career of Trujillo.

For months, confusion reigned. Joaquin Balaguer, who remained in the presidency after the assassination, took measures to liberalize political life, but the people wanted all memories of the Trujillo family obliterated.

Political opposition leaders, back from exile, demanded Balaguer's resignation, considering him a remnant of Trujilloism. Fears of a new attempt to restore the Trujillo dynasty were stirred by the return of two Trujillo brothers, Gen. Jose and Gen. Hector, and mobs marched on the national palace.

A flotilla of U.S. warships steamed offshore, evidently to support Balaguer through the crisis. He came up with a compromise — a state council to rule with legislative and limited executive powers, pending elections, and an announcement that the Trujillo brothers would leave.

Juan Bosch, head of the Dominican Revolutionary party just back from exile, threw his support to Balaguer. The council was sworn in. After wild rioting in January, Balaguer carried out his promise to resign. Once again the country went under military rule under Gen. Rodriguez Echavarria, armed forces chief.

Still, the country was preparing for its first free elections since 1924, scheduled for December 1962. There were 10 political parties, but only two really counted — Bosch's and the National Civic Union representing conservative elements. Other groups across the political spectrum were led by men seeking personal power. Communist party leaders still were mostly in Cuba. The Castro-like 14th of June movement, with a youth and student following, prepared to boycott the elections.

Bosch's party triumph by a wide margin. Bosch, a writer professing anti-Castro and anti-Communist sentiments, seemed to impute honorable intentions to elements of the far left. This was a source of worry to military leaders, who also may have worried about Bosch's announced intention of claiming for the country all wealth stolen under the Trujillo regime. The military acted in the traditional Latin-American way. They overthrew Bosch after 10 months.

Communists and Castroites denounced Bosch as leader of a mongrel party which they claimed had stolen the election. With Bosch overthrown, they could safely profess indignation. Violence reigned again last week in the wake of an attempt to restore Bosch by means of a military coup. The Castro-Communist elements saw a sudden opportunity in this, and plunged into the confusion in an attempt to turn a coup into a street revolution.
